

Key Delivery Considerations

- Remember that discussion is where you show who you really are.
- Do not promise; just suggest that the audience asks by e-mail.
- Reload the introductory slide immediately after the finish.

Let the future tell the truth, and evaluate each one according to his work and accomplishments. The present is theirs; the future, for which I have really worked, is mine.

Figure 9: Key considerations when presenting slides (note that this slide is split into two different slides, to respect the fact that people can absorb maximally three to seven points at the time). Description: checklist for final preparations and considerations before and during the presentation. Explanation: things to keep in mind to ensure the professional appearance of the presenter and the presentation. Implication: if a speaker appears unprofessional, his or her credibility can suffer, with adverse effects on the reception of his or her research; professional demeanor and delivery also promote self-confidence and limits distractions, so that the audience can fully concentrate on the presentation itself.
